Born August 28, 1972 in Cedar Grove, New Jersey, Ken Elkinson competed on the junior classical piano circuit as a child. After studying improvisation and composition throughout high school and college, Ken released his debut CD in 1996, "Midnight Conversation" of solo piano music. Four additional original solo piano CDs (Reverly, Opal, Cue and Link), a Christmas piano CD (Generations of Yuletide), a CD of piano cover songs (Borrowed Tracks), a jazz funk CD (7890) and an Asian influenced spa CD (Eastern Spa) have followed. In 2011 Ken switched his focus to ambient and released a six CD box set of ambient music entitled Music For Commuting. That was followed by another four ambient CD set (Elemental) and now Music For Telecommuting Volumes 1 and 2 culled from tracks recorded during the Music For Commuting sessions in the vein of Brian Eno and Tangerine Dream. Ken's music has received airplay on hundreds of radio stations, websites, satellite music and in-flight audio programs spanning the globe.
