Advance Copy of New CD For Free Download Between September 27 – October 31 to Help Drivers Cope with Second I-405 Closure.

A press release from Ken tells us he is at it again!

Los Angeles based multi-instrumentalist Ken Elkinson is at it again, and clearly glutton for punishment – or at least an empty wallet. During the first “Carmageddon” (the unprecedented Los Angeles freeway shutdown in July 2011), Elkinson offered up his relaxing box set of ambient instrumental music entitled Music For Commuting entirely for free. Commuters not just in L.A. but across the globe ate it up: Ken ended up giving away over 120,000 free songs – $120,000 of free music.

Elkinson states, “Since Carmageddon I was a bust with very little traffic, I am now predicting that people will roll the dice on the roads, and Carmageddon II is going to be much worse than expected.” He adds, “I feel it is my civic duty to keep as many of my fellow Angelinos relaxed on the roads as possible, even if it means giving up many thousands of dollars in lost music sales.”

The link with the free music will be www.musicforcommuting.com - and will be working from 9/27 or 9/28 through 10/31.

Thanks Ken!
